VETERANS ENJOY ADDRESS OF COL. ROBERT E. LEE

Grandson of Famous General Delivered Memorial Day Address Before Large Audience—Other Exercises Impressive.

Probably the largest crowd ever assembled on Memorial Day in the Grand Opera House gathered there yesterday morning to listen to the address of Col. Robert Edward Lee and to enjoy the other features of the program. The building was literally filled to overflowing. The ex-Confederate veterans were seated near the stage, the Daughters of the Confederacy occupied the boxes and every other seat and every aisle and corner of the building was filled by the throng of young and old persons.

Maj. W. W. Wood presided at the gathering and after the invocation by Rev. Melton Clark, introduced Col. James T. Morehead, who presented the orator of the occasion.

Col. Lee's personality made a most favorable impression upon his hearers and his address was received with great favor. He is a man of splendid size and commanding presence and of affable personality, and a Southerner to the manner born. His stories were laughable, his eloquence was at times impressive and the substance of his address had been carefully selected and prepared for presentation. He reviewed briefly some of the causes leading up to the War Between the States; spoke of some of the battles of the war and some of the most distinguished of the Confederate leaders; and delivered a beautiful tribute to the common soldiers of the Confederacy. In that connection he read extracts from speeches and writings of prominent men of the North, some of them Union soldiers, which expressed their admiration for the character and the prowess of the soldiers of the South. These utterances have been delivered in recent years and are the sober conclusions arrived at many years after the close of the conflict by men who opposed Southern soldiers upon the battlefield or contended with Southern statesmen in the field of politics.

Colonel Lee reserved for the women of the Confederacy and the women of the new South some of the finest sentiments of his address; and a feature of his speech especially worthy of consideration was that in reference to the writing of correct history of the South. He urged the old soldiers to put in writing their recollections of the war and of the events preceding it, in order that the true facts of history may be gathered and that an impartial history of the South may be written at some future date.

The speaker was frequently applauded during his address and it evidently struck responsive chords in the minds of his entire audience, but was especially pleasing to the old soldiers. At the conclusion of his address Col. Lee was presented with a large bouquet of lovely flowers by little Miss Julia Blake. He was warmly congratulated by those occupying seats on the stage upon the splendid speech delivered.

The address of Colonel Lee was followed by a prayer by Rev. J. Clyde Turner, after which the audience was treated to a fine musical program. Music was furnished by the orchestra of the Normal College both before and after the address of the day. Following the rendering of "Dixie" by the orchestra, a male quartet, composed of Messrs. Dickerson, Dillon, Porter and Merritt, sang "Massa's in de Col' Col' Groun." At the conclusion of the program the quartet sang "Tenting on the Old Camp-ground." A musical number which was greatly enjoyed was the duet, "When You and I Were Young, Maggie," sung by Mrs. Janie Foushee and Mr. Lawrence Duffy. As an encore they sang "Silver Threads Among the Gold." Miss Hazel Neff sang very sweetly "The Last Rose of Summer."

The program in the Opera House was concluded with the benediction by Rev. A. D. Betts.

After the crosses of honor were presented the audience formed in front of the opera house and marched to Green Hill cemetery where the graves of the deceased veterans were covered with flowers and songs of a patriotic nature sung by the school children. The exercises were concluded with the salute by members of the Guilford Grays. A touching feature was that which followed the placing of flowers on the graves of deceased veterans. The veterans gathered around the grave to the late Miss Alice Nelson and reverently placed a number of handsome bouquets of flowers on the newly made grave. For years Miss Nelson was one of the most active members of Guilford Chapter Daughters of the Confederacy and was

MAJOR HEMPHILL ADDRESSES VETS OF CAPITAL CITY

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, May 10.—Editor J. C. Hemphill, of the Richmond Times-Dispatch, delivered a splendid address this afternoon in concluding the Memorial Day celebration before great throng of people assembled in the Confederate cemetery. He paid a high tribute to the valor and honor of the Confederate soldier and eloquently portrayed the victory that has arisen out of the apparent defeat of the Confederate cause, the Supreme Court of the United States having affirmed the contention of Southerners for state's rights, the great principles really involved in the Civil War. A united country and loyalty of the whole people to the fundamental principles of the Republic came in for forcible treatment.

METHODIST WOMEN HOLDING BUSY SESSION IN RALEIGH.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, May 10.—The Woman's Home Mission Society of North Carolina Conference heard today an inspiring address by Mrs. R. B. Johns, president of the Society, who attended the Southern Council, in St. Louis, Mo., April 19 to 29. She presented special plans perfected there for the union of the home and foreign mission departments. Luncheon was served to the ladies at the church parsonage, being followed by a session for the hearing of additional reports from auxiliaries through the delegates. A street car ride and a visit to the Methodist Orphanage occupied this afternoon. Tonight Rev. L. S. Massey, editor of the Raleigh Christian Advocate, delivered a powerful missionary sermon. Tomorrow the final session will be held, when officers will be elected.

CATHOLICS WELCOME CARDINAL

Special to Telegram.

New York, May 10.—The Catholic Club royally welcomed Cardinal Gibbons today. The Cardinal said in response to the welcome "two paramount principles govern your society, loyalty to your country and devotion to your religion."

POLICEMAN CAUSEY ON THE FORCE SIX YEARS.

Last night Policeman Dave Causey was celebrating the sixth anniversary of his annexation to the police force of Greensboro. Mr. Causey was sworn in six years ago and has been on the force continuously ever since, being the oldest man in point of service wearing a uniform. Other policemen have served off and on longer, but he is the only one who has served continuously during the last six years.

held in high esteem by the veterans because of her solicitude for their welfare.

The veterans met at the Smith Memorial building shortly after the exercises were concluded where a sumptuous dinner had been prepared by the Daughters of the Confederacy. After each had eaten to his satisfaction ice cream was served the veterans by J. H. West and each soldier was furnished with a pipe and sack of smoking tobacco. Some time was passed most pleasantly by the veterans, recounting deeds of valor performed by deceased comrades on the field of battle. During the afternoon they gathered around the four house and enjoyed the occasion as only old friends who meet but once a year can do.

LIVE WEDGE IN SIDEWALK.

New York, May 10.—Daintily wafting a kiss to his wife, this afternoon, Herbert Cortell deftly stepped backward into a coal hole in West Forty-seventh street. Cortell is not built for falling into coal holes, as his architectural specifications are too generous.

Cortell married recently, and, after the custom of new husbands, he stepped to the other side of the street, walking backward and gazing upward to the window where the sharer of his bliss waved forth to him. Still walking backward, Cortell waved an airy salute. At that psychological moment the North American continent dropped away from beneath the feet of Cortell and rose up around his equator.

His sudden descent had wedged the man firmly in a coal hole. After the first sensation of surprise had passed, he continued to wave an adieu, while two porters used force and drew him out.

Cathedral of St. John the Divine Will Be Fourth In Size

WHEN the Cathedral of St. John the Divine is completed on Morning-side heights, New York city, America will have the fourth in size of the world's great churches. Only St. Peter's at Rome, the Cathedral of Seville and the Duomo at Milan are larger than the one gradually being built in America's metropolis. St. Peter's covers an area of 227,069 square feet, nearly twice its nearest rival. The Cathedral of St. John the Divine will cover 99,560 square feet, the famous Westminster cathedral of London having only two-thirds of that area. The part of the newest cathedral shown in the above picture is only a tremendous fragment of what the entire edifice will be. It has been twenty years in the building and cost $3,500,000. Just when the entire structure will be finished no one knows. Neither does one know what the cost will be. Nowhere in the world in modern times has there been such a great undertaking in church building. The portion of the cathedral now under roof will ultimately support a dome and tower that will be surmounted by a cross 425 feet above the floor of the nave. Much of the building as seen now is merely temporary, though it may stand for years. The columns surrounding the altar are of granite, each being in two pieces and weighing 130 tons. It took four years to quarry the columns, polish them and put them in place. Each column cost $25,000, and each will stand as a memorial of the man whose name is carved on its base. There is no steel work in the building, only pure masonry being employed.

NEW OFFICERS OF GRAND LODGE OF ODD FELLOWS

Walter H. Overton, of Durham, Chosen Grand Master at Yesterday's Sessions in Winston—Other Officers.

Special to Telegram.

Winston-Salem, May 10.—At this morning's session of the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows the following officers were elected to serve during the ensuing year:

Grand Master—Walter H. Overton, of Durham.

Deputy Grand Master—Charles Dewey, of Goldsboro.

Grand Warden—M. L. Shipman, of Hendersonville.

Grand Secretary—B. H. Woodell, of Raleigh.

Grand Treasurer—Richard J. Jones, of Wilmington.

Grand Representative for two years—Frank D. Hackett, retiring Grand Master, of North Wilkesboro.

Trustee of Orphan's Home for five years—M. W. Jacobi, of Wilmington.

Trustee to fill the vacancy caused by the death of C. H. Lumsden, of Raleigh—Patrick Williams, of Elizabeth City.

Raleigh was unanimously decided upon as the place for the next annual meeting.

At tonight's session the Grand Lodge voted to pay one half of the expenses of delegates attending the annual sessions, the subordinate lodges sending the delegates to pay the remaining half.

For some years the question of the reduction of the expenses of the annual meetings of the order has been a problem, the Grand Lodge heretofore paying the entire expenses.

It was also decided to allow the Odd Fellows Orphans Home at Goldsboro to put a singing class on the road to raise funds to carry on the work. The home was established in 1892 and has been maintained solely by them, only children of deceased Odd Fellows being admitted to the institution.

The Grand Lodge voted to allow clubs of as many as five to be admitted into the order at a flat rate of $5 each, provided the lodge into which they are admitted first obtain permission from the Grand Master to make the reduction.

A resolution to change the time for the annual meeting from the second Tuesday in May to the third Tuesday in May was offered and favorably discussed. It was found, however, that a change in the constitution would be necessary to make the change and the matter cannot be voted upon until the next meeting of the Grand Lodge. The object in making the change is in order that the Grand Lodge sessions may not conflict with Memorial Day exercises in the different places in which the annual meetings are held.

The final session of the Grand Lodge will be held tomorrow morning.

The order in North Carolina is in good condition at this time. While the membership showed a net loss of 296 during 1910, there have been more than 500 new men taken in since January 1, 1911. During April four new lodges were instituted at the following places: Moxley, Wilkes county; Broadway, Lee county; White Oak Mills, Greensboro, and at Walnut Cove, Stokes county. Besides this there are petitions out for lodges at Fuquay Springs, Hertford, Hamlet and other places.

LUTHERAN SYNOD NOW IN SESSION IN WILMINGTON

Wilmington, May 10.—With upwards of a hundred delegates and visitors in attendance, the 108th session of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod and Ministerium of North Carolina was formally opened this morning in St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, of this city, with an English service and sermon by the president, Rev. V. Y. Boozer, of Lexington, N. C.

Delegates and visitors for the Synod began arriving several days ago and are being entertained at the homes of Lutherans in the city. The number had reached 50 yesterday evening and quite a number arrived on the late Seaboard train last night and still others arrived on the morning trains today. Wilmington is proud, through her Lutheran citizens, to entertain such a distinguished body of men and women and hopes that the sojourn of the visitors here will be both pleasant and profitable.

The Synod was organized in Salisbury, May 2, 1803. Four Lutheran pastors, Revs. Arends, Storch, Miller and Henkel, together with 14 lay delegates, constituted the first convention. St. Paul's of this city, was its first city missionary undertaking. Dr. G. H. Cox, who has served the Synod for many years in various pastorates, has made the following comparative table between the last meeting of this Synod in Wilmington and the meeting today. In 1874 the Synod numbered 41 congregations, now it numbers 67, an increase of 63 per cent. In 1874 the Synod was served by 18 pastors, today there are 50 pastors in its service, an increase of 163 per cent. In 1874 there were 4,201 confirmed members, at the close of 1910 there were 8,977, an increase of 113 per cent. During the year 1874 the money raised in the Synod for all purposes was $59.67; during 1910 the amount was $71,026.60, an increase of 19,655 per cent.

ATTACKS MADE ON RECIPROCITY

Special to Telegram.

Washington, May 10.—The Senate finance committee today held a hearing on the reciprocity bill. Farmers of the border states and Massachusetts fishermen were present to attack the bill. E. Governor Strange, of Wisconsin, called the newspaper trust the most vicious in the world, while the leaders of the Michigan State Grange told of the movement against reciprocity by the farmers of that state.

CALL HOE CLAIM LOVE FRAUD

Book Collector's Heirs Won't Give His Stenographer $30,000.

New York, May 10.—The estate of the late Robert Hoe, whose library is being disposed of at sensational auction prices, is defendant in a suit brought by Margaret Johnson Johns, his former nurse and amanuensis, to establish her right to a bond and mortgage of $30,000, which she alleged was given her by the famous press builder and book collector.

In a long answer the executors of Mr. Hoe's will oppose the suit on the ground that the plaintiff obtained the document "by falsely and wickedly pretending to be enamored of Mr. Hoe."

By order of Justice Blanchard in the Supreme court today, an attorney for the estate was authorized to take the testimony of Lewis F. Brown, of Covington, Ky., who obtained a divorce from the plaintiff at the time of her employment by Mr. Hoe.

Juarez, Mexico, May 10.—After the federal barracks had been almost demolished General Navarro surrendered to Madero this afternoon and the revolutionists are now in full control of not only Juarez, but of the entire border. The way is cleared for the march to the capital.

Diaz's Resignation Price of Peace.
El Paso, Texas, May 10.—It is said here that the price of peace is the immediate resignation of President Diaz. Federal Prisoners Treated Kindly.

Juarez, Mexico, May 10.—There is little disorder in the town tonight. The rebels are in complete possession, but they are not rioting. The main streets are being patrolled and Madero has taken possession of the city hall, where he has set up the provisional government of Mexico. Francisco I. Madero, Jr., the new provisional president, was the last rebel to enter the city. He came in an automobile decorated with tricolored revolutionary flags. As the auto proceeded up the streets there were made shouts of "Viva Madero," many of the federalists vying with the revolutionists in the shouting. Mrs. Madero rode on horseback.

Five hundred federal prisoners were stripped of their uniforms and placed in jail, their wives accompanying them. Many of the prisoners shouted "Viva Madero." Madero said to the prisoners "You are brothers, not foes. Part of the system we are trying to dissolve. In a few days, perhaps, peace will be restored and you will be set free. If the war is continued you shall choose between parole and joining the liberating army." The rebels' final dash into the city showed fire and determination, while the repulse of the federalists was lukewarm.

May Advance on Capital.
The way is now open for an advance on Mexico City and this fact is a menace to President Diaz. In Juarez the rebels captured a large quantity of stores, provisions, guns and ammunition and they are well prepared for the march to Mexico City.

Americans With Insurrectos.
It is reported that there were two hundred Americans among the insurgents when they captured the city.

NOW MOST MODEST SOLON.

Congressman Redfield Takes Up Least Space in Directory.

Washington, D. C., May 10.—A living history of contemporary success, with no word of failure in its 470 pages, the Congressional Directory of the Sixty-second session made its appearance today, with a new and fancy binding of red and white, taking the place of the sombre old coverings of the past.

The story of American success, told in modest strain by the modest man who will legislate for the greatest nation on earth for the next two years, excels anything that might be concocted by the exponents of the old "where there is a will there is a way" motto.

If there was too much sameness in the vocations and the occupations of the members of the last House and Senate to please those who believe that legislators who would please all the people should be familiar with all their wants, this cannot properly be charged against the make-up of the new Congress, as there is no trade or vocation which some of the new statesmen have not essayed in some part of their careers.

For Robert Bruce Macon, of Arkansas, whose name appears about as often as any other member in the records of the daily doings of the House, there is a bitter pill. The Arkansas Congressman has always prided himself on modestly refraining from publishing his attributes in the directory, and his has always been the shortest autobiography, until the present session. William C. Redfield, of Brooklyn, has taken this honor from him. The two life stories follow:

"Robert Bruce Macon, Democrat, of Helena, was elected to the Fifty-eighth and to each succeeding Congress."

William C. Redfield, Democrat, of Brooklyn, was elected to the Sixty-second Congress. Majority, 3,700 votes."

The Brooklyn Congressman wins the honor by a margin of one word. Senator duPont, of Delaware, continues to hold the long-distance record. The story of his success takes up one full page of small type.

THE CELEBRATION OF MOTHERS' DAY.

Sunday, May 14th, is the day to be celebrated this year in honor of the mothers of the land. The custom has arisen of setting aside one day in each year for this purpose, and it is a beautiful custom and worthy of observance by all. Mayor Murphy has officially directed attention to Mothers' Day and suggested that it be fittingly observed in Greensboro. Other citizens of the city are interested in the matter and it is probable that the day will be quite generally observed here. Mothers' Day is observed very quietly, usually by the wearing of a white flower, but the simplicity of the observance appeals to all who respect the womanhood of the land and reverence the mother of the race. In addition to the wearing of flowers it is customary for ministers to deliver sermons appropriate to the day, and it is probable that several sermons of this nature will be delivered in Greensboro pulpits.

Daily Paper Fills the Bill.

Everybody takes a daily newspaper. It is read by every member of the family. The daily newspaper responds to every daily want of the home—national, local, society and sporting news—and last, but not least, advertising news.

The house for sale, the furniture man, the coal man, grocery man, and market man—in fact, every want of the home is fully supplied through the columns of the daily newspaper. It goes into the home with a welcome to the very people you want to reach.

In the newspaper you can give a headline to attract attention to your wares, thereby sifting out the people interested in your merchandise and tell them your story. Your advertisement is on the same page and right alongside the very news for which the paper is bought. You do not have to look for it—it is never lost. There is no other kind of advertising which possesses as many elements of producing profit as the daily newspaper, for it reaches and is read by every member of the family.

With the daily newspaper you can daily refresh the mind of the buying public, for the daily newspaper ad is always fresh. It never has a flavor of staleness. It enables you to keep your name and wares daily before the buying public, for the needs of today are met and supplied by the daily newspaper. An advertisement is only good when it is read—thirty days or a thousand on the book shelf counts for naught.

The daily newspaper is not read as an amusement sheet or to kill idle time; its place in the family is of too great importance. Its news is so arranged that it appeals to every member of the family—father, mother, sister and brother. It has the steady producing qualities. It gets closer to the people than any other kind of publicity. You buy your paper, and every one else does, because you believe in its policies and therefore have absolute confidence in its advertising columns. A circulation that shapes the business of today and governs the expenditure of the weekly income.

The home is not worth cultivating through your advertising that the daily newspaper does not go into, unless you are doing a strict mail order business. You can't keep the newspaper ad out of the home if you try. It comes in with a welcome because it's the women's shopping guide and the men's barometer of business life. If you have anything to say to the public, tell it to them through the columns of their daily newspaper. It is bought for both news and advertising.—Editor and Publisher.

THE UPLIFT THEORY

(By CARA REESE.)

There is nothing wrong with the plan and purpose as a whole. The idea is perfection. The doctrines are the high water mark of excellent teachings. In the phraseology of the university class room, there is "form, cogency and ethical earnestness."

But, as the wise man with the long white hair said to his audience some days since, "there is a big difference between science and scientists." Leaving the particular case entirely out of the discussion, the idea holds good in numberless instances. There is nothing but high water mark and a perfection of teaching in the grand and great principles formulated for the world's uplifting. The theory and purpose are unassailable, the tenets are trustworthy, the aims are lofty and the message is inspiring.

But there is a big difference between the perfection of the "plan" and the followers, or those who strive to pattern after the "plan." There are some plans so lofty and erudite that they transcend the high water mark of earthly skill and learning and pierce the unknown space. And yet, there are followers with scarcely intelligence sufficient to recognize the meaning of philosophy, let alone to twist their tongues around such words as psychic phenomena. Likewise, there are the untutored bowing before the majesty of the "all in all" and yet dependent upon food, clothing and temperature for progress and comfort. The "plan" is perfect, but the followers not so.

It is the imperfections and limitations of the adherents to a cause which bring the cause to shame. It is the imperfections and weaknesses of the followers which dim the luster of the perfect doctrine. It is the imperfections and smallness of the devotee which drags down apparently that which is enthroned. All through it is a case of perfection versus imperfection. This is why those who look on lose heart and confidence.

There are perfect "systems" of education and welfare; there are the perfection of methods, of schemes and essentials; there are perfect plans for redemption and the working out of the ideal in existence; but alas, the imperfections of those for whom perfection has been wrought, casts a shadow on the great "Ideal." Hence these are lessons for all. It were better to be patient with those who fail to live up to the perfection which their choice has adopted. It were better to be patient with those whose intelligence is not of an order to grasp what the great plan means. It were better to be lenient over shortcomings.

All is imperfection where mortals are concerned. The teachings, however, are perfect, the high water mark in morals is maintained, the excellencies are ultra and the truth peerless. It were better as you go along not to confuse the plan with the followers, nor to condemn the principles along with weakness.

GIRLS' BLUSHES

(By JOHN WATSON WHYTE.)

With that wonderful intuition which most men possess in all matters pertaining to the feminine heart, it was universally held that when a girl blushed on meeting a particular young man, it was a sign that she was in love with him.

Thousands of young, manly hearts have drawn divine encouragement from beholding some fair damsel hang out the crimson banner on her damask cheek. Thousands of girls have received proposals of marriage simply because the men who saw them wear involuntarily the alluring red badge concluded, and rightly so, that their love was reciprocated.

Then in an evil moment the thought occurred to some female brain that men were beginning to know too much about the weaker vessels of life. With a middle-headed notion of protection, this female spoke to others, and these others passed along the tidings without due examination, and it was given forth that when a woman blushed on seeing a certain man, it was for any old reason except that she had fallen in love with him.

What is the result? As soon as men found themselves deprived of this one sure sign of love, they grew nervous, until now it is only the very bold, or the very foolish, who dare take that leap in the dark known as popping the question. And here we have, perhaps the main cause of the drop in the marriage rate.

Believe me, girls, it is in your own interests that I am now proclaiming to a listening world the truth concerning those scarlet flags of Cupid—your blushes. Once more men will know where they stand with you, and up will go the marriage rate, while all will go merry as wedding bells.

No longer when your pretty face is incriminated on meeting a lover will that misguided youth pity you for indignation. He will now seize the first suitable opportunity to call you his ownest own, or words to that effect, and beseech you to share his little wooden hut.

The Drunken Chauffeur.

Prohibitionists and saloon-keepers, local-optionists and defenders of personal liberty may have divergent views as to the use and abuse of liquor and the propriety of restrictive laws in connection therewith, but they all think alike as to one thing—and that is that the man who drinks or has been drinking has no place in the automobile. A drunken chauffeur or one ever so slightly under the influence of drink is a danger to the community. He is the driver of 40 or 60 horses—horses that become wild, unsteady, terrifying, if his hand falters or his mind wanders, or goes dashing down the streets leaving destruction in their path. The man who drinks has no right to run a car, whether he be the hired chauffeur or the owner of the machine. When he dares to do so and an accident results, the punishment should be so severe that others will be deterred from following his example.—Baltimore Sun.

Sense in Short Sentences

Don't forget that life is what you make it. Expect life to use you better every year and you will help to bring about the desired state.

If you make a mistake, don't brood over it. Consider it only an incident for the purpose of teaching you a lesson.

Don't forget that if you find nothing but disappointing experiences the fault most probably lies somewhere within yourself.

Love was never killed by too much kindness.

Sometimes a woman tells her right age because she is afraid that someone will do it for her.

The way in which a woman works out a problem is as mysterious to a man as the way in which she makes pastry.

Most men are anxious to make a name, it makes no difference to them whether it's a good one or a bad one.

When a man's wife makes his neckties you can't blame him for wearing long whiskers.

Answered.

Bliss Carman told at a dinner in New York a story about James Russell Lowell and a bad boy.

"A Boston woman," said Mr. Carman, "asked Lowell to write in her autograph album, and the poet, complying, wrote the line:

"What is so rare as a day in June?" "Calling at this woman's house a few days later, Lowell idly turned the pages until he came to his own autograph. Beneath it was written in a childish scrawl:

"A Chinaman with whiskers."

Securing Attention.

Little Robert had been told that he must not ask for anything at the table, but must wait in respectful silence until he was served. One day when the minister was in to dinner everybody got so busy talking that Robert was completely overlooked and his plate remained bare. After a long pause and serious reflection he looked up at his mama and said:

"Mamma, when little boys starve to death do they go to heaven?"

The Essential Quality.

The Smiths first baby had come. He had been in the world ten months. They had christened him John, and they called him "Johnnie" for long. There never was such a baby.

"He is wonderful!" murmured Mr. Smith, in hushed tones.

"He is a genius!" cried Mr. Smith.

"I feel it!"

"He will become an inventor," said Mr. Smith, "for his originality is unparalleled!"

"Or an actor!" signed Mrs. Smith.

"He is so beautiful!"

"Or a soldier," said Mrs. Smith. "He is so active!"

"Or a great politician!" explained Mr. Smith.

"Why a politician?" queried his good wife.

"Because, my dear," answered Mr. Smith reverently, "he crawls out of everything so easily."

Keep the kidneys well and they will keep you well. Doan's Kidney Pills make sick kidneys well. Can Greensboro readers demand further proof than the following statement:

My back was so weak that after stooping, I had to take hold of something and pull myself up again. I was troubled by dizzy spells and my head ached constantly. My rest at night was broken and in the morning I was so tired and weak that I could hardly drag myself around. Doan's Kidney Pills completely cured me and I am grateful to them."

INDIGESTION

An Interesting Statement.

Portland, Me.—"I suffered so long with indigestion and stomach trouble that I lost flesh rapidly—I had used all kinds of remedies without help. Vinol was recommended and I decided to try it.

"I soon commenced to feel better, my stomach trouble disappeared and I can eat heartily without the slightest distress. My experience leads me to believe that no other medicine equals Vinol for stomach troubles and indigestion. It tones up the stomach, increases the appetite and creates strength." W. E. Waterhouse. (We guarantee this testimonial to be genuine.)

Vinol seldom fails to strengthen and tone up the tired, overtaxed and weakened nerves of the digestive organs, and remove the cause of indigestion and soon enables the sufferer to digest with ease the foods that once caused distress. Moreover Vinol is delicious to the taste, contains no oil and does not upset weak stomachs, as do old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.—Farriss-Klutz Drug Co., Greensboro, N. C.

BATTERED BY ICE FLOOD

Jam Breaks and Alaska City Suffers Swift Damage.

Fairbanks, Alaska, May 10.—An ice jam broke today in the Tanana river above Fort Banks and released a great volume of water and ice that rushed down on Fairbanks, causing the most destructive flood in the history of the city.

Two hundred and fifty houses were inundated, wharfs along the water front were wrecked and masses of ice 15 feet thick were scattered along the principal streets. The flood soon began to recede, and all danger is passed.

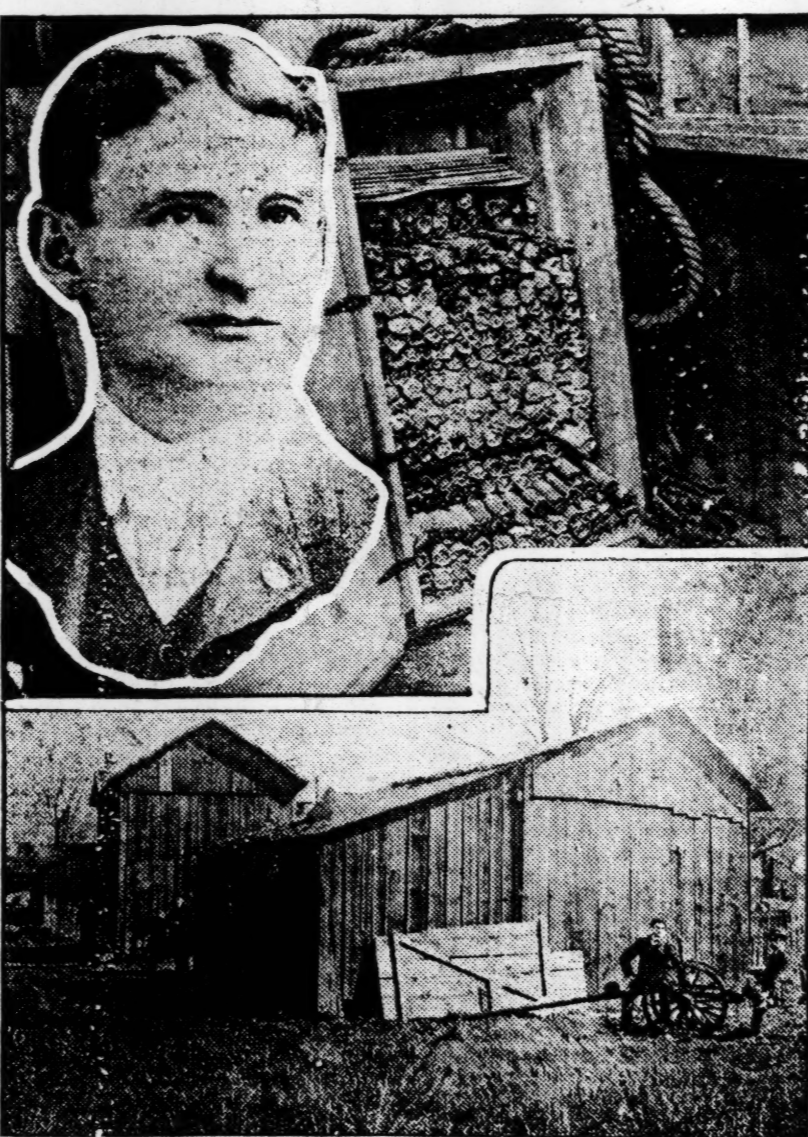

The pile bridge of the Copper River Railroad across Citina river was carried away by the breaking of the ice jam. Replacement of the bridge will consume a week and meantime the railroad is tied up.

Alleged Dynamite Plot Extends To Several Cities and Towns

Photos by American Press Association.

THE whole country was startled by the arrest of John J. McNamara, secretary and treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers; his brother, James W. McNamara, and Orrie E. McManigal on a charge of being concerned in the dynamiting of the plant of the Los Angeles Times last October. The detectives who made the arrests said that the men had aided in scores of dynamite outrages in which 112 lives were lost and in which property worth $3,500,000 was destroyed. J. J. McNamara was arrested in Indianapolis, the headquarters of the ironworkers' organization. He and the other prisoners were immediately started toward California. The prisoners and their friends in union labor ranks insist that the charges are false, that the case against the men is a "plant" and that they will be able to prove they have had nothing to do with the dynamiting of buildings and bridges in California, Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio and other states. The picture above shows J. J. McNamara and a barn owned by McNamara's mother at Tiffin, O. In this barn a case containing more than 400 sticks of dynamite was found. A picture of this case is also shown.

Silence!

The instinct of modesty natural to every woman is often a great hindrance to the cure of womanly diseases. Women shrink from the personal questions of the local physician which seem indelicate. The thought of examination is abhorrent to them, and so they endure in silence a condition of disease which surely progresses from bad to worse.

It has been Dr. Pierce's privilege to cure a great many women who have found a refuge for modesty in his offer of FREE consultation by letter. All correspondence is held as sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription restores and regulates the womanly functions, abolishes pain and builds up and puts the finishing touch of health on every weak woman who gives it a fair trial.

DENIES HOLY CITY THEFTS.

Excavator Says: Antiquities Found Were Left at Jerusalem.

London, May 10.—Captain Montagu Parker, one of the leaders of the British expedition which has been making excavations at Jerusalem, today emphatically denied the charges of theft of ancient treasures at that place. "All the antiquities we found in the Holy City," he said, "have been left in the hands of the Turkish Government."

Captain Parker asserted that the work had been carried on throughout with the consent of the Turkish Government and in the presence of Turkish officials. One result of the excavations, he said, was the discovery of proof beyond doubt that the ancient city of David was not on Mount Zion, but on Mount Orpel.

SNAKE WORSHIPER DYING FROM FANGS OF RATTLER

Leader of Weird Kansas Sect Let Serpent Bite Him to Convince Backsliding Brother.

Hugoton, Kan., May 10.—G. W. Huffman, of Coldwater, Okla., is fighting desperately against death from snake bite because of his fanatical attempt on Saturday to demonstrate the "Faith of the True Followers," a weird religious band, locally known as the "snake-eaters," who believe the serpent typifies everything that is good. Huffman has been one of the leaders in the ghoulish religion, and attempted to convince Z. J. Osteen, a backsliding brother, by a demonstration with a big rattler, when he was bitten, coming into town Saturday.

An enormous rattlesnake appeared in the road. Huffman stopped his team, and, seizing the rattler by the neck, he picked up the snake. Mrs. Osteen took the poisonous reptile from Huffman and fondled it in her hands, finally allowing the rattler to wind its sinuous folds about her neck. Huffman, in his zeal to convince the scoffing Osteen, attempted to take the snake from Mrs. Osteen. The reptile resented Huffman's interference, and, with a lightning dart of his head, sunk his fangs into the back of Huffman's hand. Osteen is trying to get the county authorities to run the snake worshippers from the county.

Everything comes to him who waits—including the woman who said she'd be ready in a minute.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN H. SMITH

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

THERE are many people who know enough to attend to their own affairs, but it is noteworthy that few really like to do it.

It requires a tactful rather than an appreciative person to laugh at a joke without a point.

Intellect is a mental quality possessed by the person that is talking about it and a few others.

The loafer has his part in the economy of nature. It is to cheer and encourage the busy man.

People who are so well bred that they would scorn to drop a hint often offer a suggestion.

The cold white light of publicity makes the fourflusher look like thirty cents.

A plain woman with a bad complexion wears face powder for a plain reason.

A man likes to beat the game for the same reason that a boy likes to beat a drum—to be noisy about it.

Ready.

We may not want to lick the earth, but if the earth needs licking 'Twill find when we have proved our worth.

It has no cause for kicking. Our army may not be so large as some that we might mention. But when the order comes to charge the boys will get attention.

See how we moved them in a day and massed them on the border and made those who were getting gay sit down and keep good order. We were not looking for a fuss or war or gore or glory. But if a one were forced on us—Well, that's a different story!

Yes, Uncle Sam is in the game. Though not a trouble maker. And, while he isn't halt or lame, he isn't quite a Quaker. If there's a job on hand that calls for fighting or for thinking. Though timid nations it appalls. He will not be found shrinking.

But let us hope the worst will not mix white and browns and yellows. But if it comes to the great Scott, He's got the guns and fellows! Although of peaceful walks and ways. Of looms and shuttles humming. When it's a case of gun displays You'll find him up and coming.

Couldn't Resist.

"I'll never speak to you again!" she declared, with indignation.

"And why not?" innocently inquired the man.

"And why not?" she replied, with her temper rising every minute. Then she went into a three hours' explanation to show she meant just what she said.

Can't Afford Them.

"Any children in this house?" "Children?"

"Yes. I am taking the school census."

"Dear me, no. We can't take the proper care of our dear little doggies, to say nothing of children."

Not to Blame For That.

"Your husband smokes too much."

"What?" "Your husband smokes too much."

"Well, if he does it's his own fault. I don't make him."

A Sunrise.

First in the east a patch of gray That every moment grows more light. A herald of the coming day To put the kibosh on the night. And then appears a purple streak To paint a cloud that's passing by. And soon the yellow streamers seek The very arches of the sky.

A hush pervades the grand display. A sense of reverence fills the mind. Provided that's the kind of day It is and you are so inclined; A splash of yellow, that is all. Dots the horizon line afar; Then suddenly a golden ball Springs from the ground, and there you are!

And there you are, and all is well. Another day is on the wing. You listen for the breakfast bell And wonder will it ever ring. And, though impatiently you wait, There's satisfaction for 'tis true You personally have it straight. And no one has the edge on you.

I've tried to tell it plain and clear Without an effort at display. Because I thought you'd like to hear The way it happens every day. I think that I have got it straight. But if you doubt it rise and see. It ought to be, at any rate. I tell it as 'twas told to me.

DAILY MARKET REPORTS.

COTTON LETTER TO J. S. LATHAM.

New Orleans, La., May 10.—Liverpool did not follow the advance in our markets yesterday in old crops. There is every reason for the English market to drop further behind during the next two or three months as the pinch of the supply situation would be felt on this side and will be reflected in our market. Spots were one higher, sales 7,000. Liverpool however, was two better than due on new crops which shows that the trade keeps on buying these positions at the attractive discount. The map shows very favorable conditions over night. Temperatures higher and now seasonable, but prospects are not good. A cool wave is coming over the Northwestern quarter of the belt, causing unsettled weather and there should be quite a fall in temperatures. It will continue for a day longer in the Eastern half of the belt.

The market was active from the start. A rush to cover shorts in July and August put prices about 10 points up soon after the opening and the increasing discount on new crops and prospects of cold unsettled weather in the Western and Northern cotton States brought a steady demand for October.

The movement for the half week at the 13 leading interior towns shows receipts 10,363 vs. 9,051, loss in stock 19,000 vs. 6,500 last year. Spots here are quiet and prices firm at quotations. Ordinary staple good color desirable grades very scarce and offerings moderate.

Flag Unfurled to Greet Men Who Saluted It Fifty Years Ago

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

FIFTY years is a long time—nearly two generations as usually figured. Many men have passed from the stage of life since the stirring times of the beginning of the civil war. The other day the Seventh regiment of New York celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of the organization's going to the front. The young men who now form the regiment marched along the same streets that were traversed by their predecessors in April, 1861, while less than fifty survivors of the great war who had belonged to the Seventh rode behind in carriages. There were many changes along the line of march during the half century that had elapsed, but at 432 Lafayette street there was no change. From one of the upper windows in the building at that number fluttered a flag—the same flag that had been unfurled when the Seventh regiment marched past on its way to Washington and thence to the bloody battlefields of the next four years. And from the window two women looked at the tramping soldiers. They were Miss Fanny Underhill and Miss Louise Underhill, sisters. They lived in the Lafayette street house in 1861, and they hung out a flag and waved farewells to the boys in blue. On the fiftieth anniversary they hung out the same flag and again waved handkerchiefs to the marching men. It was a pretty bit of sentiment that made tears rather in the eyes of many of the old veterans.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Mr. W. B. Bogart was a member of the First Presbyterian church, Greensboro, N. C. for about fifty years. He was ordained and installed a deacon in the year 1872; served as church treasurer from Oct. 8, 1888 to Sept. 9, 1889; was secretary of the Board of Deacons two years ago, but resigned on account of ill-health.

Mr. Bogart departed this life March 30, 1911.

We the members of the Board of Deacons desire to place on record our high appreciation of the services of our departed brother. In his life were exemplified all the virtues that adorn the character of a quiet, humble, unassuming Christian gentleman. In his death we have lost an earnest, faithful, co-worker.

Resolved, therefore, that we express our grateful acknowledgments of the services he has rendered our church and by his humble walk in life he has closely followed in the footsteps of the Master and in so doing he adorned the profession of a consecrated life.

Resolved, also, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased and also to the Presbyterian Standard and to the city papers for publication and spread upon our minutes.

THE WORD OF MAY.

The world's all right,
Is the word of May—
When school lets out
It is time to play!
The world's all right, and there's nothing wrong!
Where the sweet May's lips are awake
with song.

Keep on, she says,
With the dream and toil—
There's bloom somewhere
In the summer soil!
The world's all right, and we'll take her word,
For she loves us all, all and we know
she's heard.

Don't give up
Is her message sweet—
When the fiddles play,
Let us swing our feet!
The world's all right, and I know it's true
When I look at the May on the lips of you.

The world's all right,
It's her word of cheer—
And it does seem so
When the spring is here!
It does seem so when the earth's so fair
And the birds are singing of Maytime
there. —The Bentztown Bard.

Lectures of Practical Value.

The stereopticon lectures that will be given in the annex of West Market Street M. E. church on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings of this week at eight o'clock, will be of special interest to all the delegates that attend the Young People's Missionary Conference that meets annually in Asheville the first week in July, as there are several pictures that will be familiar to them.

The Epworth League of West Market is indebted to the Young People's Missionary Movement in New York City for supplying them with as fine a stereo-opticon lecture as can be obtained for missionary purposes both home and foreign. What this movement has done along educational lines will be brought out in this lecture as well as pictures of the missionaries, mission board secretaries, and summer conferences for the training of leaders in church work. This lecture will be held in the annex of the church and an admission fee of 10 cents for grown people and five cents for children will be charged. The views will be shown from 8 to 9 o'clock on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings of this week. This is an interdenominational movement and all the churches are urged to have their workers come out and see these pictures.

REQUISITION FOR W. E. WEBB HONORED BY THE GOVERNOR

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, May 10.—There was a requisition honored today by Governor
Kitchin from the governor of South Carolina for W. E. Webb, alias W. W.
Vanamaker, wanted in Richland county, S. C., for obtaining goods under false pretenses. He got away with an automobile, in fact, and was located in Rocky Mount with the machine. He is being held in Rocky Mount for the South Carolina authorities.

In connection with the memorial day exercises today there was the annual meeting of the L. O. B. Branch camp Confederate Veterans at which it was decided to merge the Wake County Confederate Veterans Association with the L. L. O. B. Branch Camp, giving the camp a membership of about 400. There have been eighteen deaths among the membership the past year. These were announced and fitting resolutions adopted.
The election of officers resulted: Commander, C. N. Allen; first lieutenant commander, S. W. Walker; second lieutenant commander, Q. I. Hudson; treasurer, R. H. Bradley; adjutant, J. S.
Birdsong. After the business meeting the old soldiers formed in line at the municipal building and marched double file to Capital Square where the ladies' memorial association served dinner to them on the green. The procession was headed by the famous Confederate Drum Corps that stirred enthusiasm with the strains of Dixie on fire and drum.

The federal tax on corporations has to be paid by July 1 by corporations in this state else they are penalized five per cent. The payments for the central and eastern sections of this state have to be made through Collector Wheeler Martin here at Raleigh. There is an important question pending now as to payments of this tax through checks and the liability of the collector in endorsing checks so received. Last year there were a number of corporations that sent checks late in June that were in process of final collection July 1 and the department at Washington insisted on penalizing the corporations whose checks were outstanding. An act of the last Congress empowered the collector to receive checks, but still there is pending a question of the liability of the government for any endorsements that it may be necessary for the collector to make on checks for their proper handling in the banks. It looks like about the only safe thing for corporations to do this year will be to send in their payments of taxes in the most ample time for the banking in handling their checks to be completed before July 1 if

Sam M. Burritt, circulator for the foot a movement for the organization of a Carolina association of newspaper circulators that is intended to include through the co-operation of a number of the circulators of leading dailies and the indications are that the initial meeting

Winston-Salem led in leaf tobacco sales among North Carolina markets during April. The state department of agriculture has just issued its report of sale on all markets. The total sales was 2,426,291 and Winston-Salem's portion was 2,223,864. The other markets had sales as follows: Reidsville, 301,695;
Mt. Airy, 252,888; Stoneville, 220,774;
Madison, 154,043; Durham, 111,800;

hand sales for farmers of 2,426,291 pounds there were 340,852 pounds resold for dealers.

The love of a popular traveling man for getting off jokes and the credulity of some Raleigh newspaperman have combined to give Raleigh credit for the acquisition of a big new enterprise in the way of a coffin and casket factory that it was explained in the glowing write-up would sell caskets to prospective users on the installment plan. It was to be the Cobb-Armentrout Casket
Co. that was represented to have already a successful plant in Greensboro and would make Raleigh the center of the manufacturing end of the enterprise with a general distributing office in Richmond. J. T. Cobb, well-known traveling man, duped the newspaperman and gave E. L. Armentrout, Harry Hoffman, High Point and J. Boone, of Greensboro, as his associates in the enterprise.

PROMINENT MORMONS WILL BE EXPELLED FROM CHURCH OF LATTER DAY SAINTS

Salt Lake City, May 10.—Matthias F. Cowley is to be cited for trial on Wednesday before the Council of the Twelve Apostles of the Mormon Church. The charges against him are exactly like those on which John W. Taylor was tried a month ago. Official announcement of Taylor's excommunication was made last Wednesday, and there is authority for the expectation that Cowley will be cast off by the church exactly as Taylor was.

Until 1906 Cowley and Taylor were apostles, and they are today among the best known Mormons in Utah. Both are men well past middle life and both are wealthy. Taylor being rated a millionaire. They were allowed to "resign" as apostles because of their opposition to the Woodruff manifesto against polygamy. Taylor being charged with having taken a second plural wife as long after the manifesto as 1896 and with performing plural marriages for others in Mexico.

These apostles took the stand that the Woodruff manifesto could only be offered to members of the church, its interpretation being a matter for the members themselves. Taylor, for his part, decided and argued that while it might apply to the United States it did not in other countries—Mexico, for example—where he married a number of couples. Cowley agreed with him to an extent that finally brought a protest from United States Senator Reed Smoot, another of the apostles, and on this protest Taylor and Cowley "resigned" at the annual conference of 1906.

The explanation given at church headquarters of the present action is that proof has only now come that Taylor is still "out of harmony" with the church. This explanation will also cover the almost certain action in the case of Cowley.

The Case of J. M. Tanner.

It is said the church will quickly follow action in the Cowley case with the bringing of charges against James M. Tanner, another conspicuous Mormon. He was president of the Agricultural College of Utah when Brigham H. Roberts was making his fight for a seat in Congress. In the heat of one debate Roberts demanded to know why he was being attacked as a polygamist when "the Federally appointed president of the Agricultural College of Utah" was undisturbed in his position, although he was as much a polygamist as Roberts. Tanner's removal followed.

Tanner was at one time President of the Church Board of Education, being in charge of the "religion classes," as they are called. His position was especially conspicuous among members of the church, and his opposition to the Woodruff manifesto was well known. Tanner's case is attracting particular attention just now, because of a speech made the other night by former United States Senator Frank J. Cannon. In it Cannon said:

"If Joseph Smith had kept his pledge with the people, then J. M. Tanner would not have married seven wives."

This charge has not been refuted, and apparently the Council of the Twelve has got "proof" that Tanner is not "in harmony." Excommunication cuts its subject off entirely from the church. Only by recanting and by being baptized again can membership be regained.

This activity in the matter of cases of known polygamists is regarded here as the church's answer to the renewed fight on it. Feeling has never, it is said, been so bitter here as it has since the start of what is popularly called "the magazine fight." The renewed agitation in England and the possibility that Denmark will bar Mormon missionaries are part of the pressure that is being brought to bear on the authorities.

Spiking the Enemy's Guns.

Never before has the church punished so conspicuous a man as former Apostle Taylor for insubordination of the kind charged against him. Even among Mormons it is regarded as being the forerunner of the only unqualified stand against polygamy the church has ever taken. Official statements come at frequent intervals that the church no longer countenances the practice of polygamy, but it has not done more than make statements. In the case of Taylor, however, it has. It will in the case of Cowley; it probably will in the case of Tanner.

Categorical charges have been made that since 1890, the year of the Woodruff manifesto, no less than 225 other men than these three have contracted plural marriages. Some of the men are conspicuous; more are not known outside their own communities, but the charges against all of them have gone unchallenged for a long time. A list of the men was published last December.

There is ground, apparently for the expectation that the church authorities will proceed in order against all these men. If it does it will have put on trial, at least, every "newly polygamist" member of the church in Utah. If it does that it will spike the most effective gun of the Gentile enemy. The others in the batteries are chiefly political, and even in Utah voters seem to be getting tired of the firing of those guns.

A Spring Suggestion by a Trained Druggist.

Appendicitis and many other ills come from constipation and over-loading with food which the system cannot care for. The bowels must be cleared and antiseptics to give their normal functions and this should not be done by strong cathartics, as every physician will tell you. Vick's Little Liver Pills have been the bowels and mild stimulation to the lazy liver and thus cure trouble in adults and children.

Do Ghosts Haunt Swamps?

No, Never. Its foolish to fear a fancied evil, when there are real and deadly perils to guard against in swamps and marshes, bayous, and lowlands. These are the malaria germs that cause ague, chills and fever, weakness, aches in the bones and muscles and may induce deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters destroys and casts out these vicious germs from the blood. "Three bottles drove all the malaria from my system," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. SCHOOL CYCLONE CELLARS.

Each Building in Torando-Ridden Kansas County to Have One.

Hiawatha, Kas., May 10.—Every schoolhouse in Brown county is to have a cyclone cellar into which the teacher and her pupils may adjourn when a twister appears. That is the edict of the school board. One-third of the school buildings in the rural districts will be replaced with new buildings this summer. The destruction of school buildings by the tornado which swept across the country about a month ago made rebuilding an absolute necessity in many districts. Everywhere the parents are unanimous for cyclone cellars. More than $100,000 will be spent in erecting modern, up-to-date county school houses.

CANDLER IS PLANNING LARGEST CHICKEN FARM IN THE SOUTH

Atlanta, Ga., May 10.—At an expense of thousands of dollars Asa G. Candler, Jr., is establishing at Briarcliff Farm, adjoining Druid Hills, on the Wallace mill road, the largest chicken farm in the United States. When his plans are completed 30,000 chickens will be busy supplying this section with eggs.

It is Mr. Candler's purpose to revolutionize the egg business in Atlanta by establishing a year round price and forcing other dealers not only to guarantee their eggs, but stamp the date on which it is laid on every egg that goes directly from farm to consumer.

Mr. Candler is going in for fancy breeds of chickens. Believing that chicken-raising on business principles and on a large scale is a good business venture, Mr. Candler is putting money into the enterprise with the idea of making it pay, and from all appearances that is what he is going to do.

His Working Plan.

Here is his working plan for the selling part of the poultry business: He believes, and contracts, which he has already listened, show that he is right in his belief that clubs, cafes, hotels, boarding-houses and the average housewife want to be certain that they are going to get really fresh eggs, and that when they know what they are going to get they are willing to enter into contracts to buy eggs from the farm that guarantees their freshness. Therefore, Mr. Candler is going to make just as many contracts as he is certain that he can fill. For instance, when his farm is running full blast he will refuse to contract for more than 15,000 eggs a day, although there will be many days when he will get as many as 25,000 eggs.

The eggs left over after the contracts have been filled will not cause worry, for he can sell them to a wholesaler or to city grocers—that is, if he does not want to use them for hatching, and he is constantly increasing the number of chickens.

However, when Mr. Candler sells eggs other than except by contract he is not going to put his stamp or the date upon them, for he cannot tell how long the middleman will hold them before they get to the customer.

Can Establish Price.

Mr. Candler believes that by starting a farm on the mammoth scale he can establish a year round price for eggs in Atlanta, thus changing the principle on which that trade has been based for many years.

The price proposed by Mr. Candler is 35 cents a dozen, and at that price he already has customers who have contracted for about 200 dozen eggs a day. Last year about Christmas time, when thousands of Atlantans were paying 50 cents a dozen for cold storage eggs, Mr. Candler's customers were getting eggs laid the day before, stamped with that date and guaranteed to be of that date, for 35 cents, or 15 cents less than the average person was glad to pay for cold storage eggs, some of which were probably unfit for use.

Another argument which Mr. Candler advances in favor of the one price theory that while the price of eggs may go down in the summer to, say, 24 cents a dozen, the chances are that the customer, buying from the thousands of dealers who do not guarantee their eggs, will find that three of the eggs out of his dozen are not good. The eggs are not guaranteed, so he not only loses 6 cents on bad eggs, but to complete his dozen he will be forced to buy three more eggs at cost of 6 cents, and for his dozen he really paid 36 cents. According to Mr. Candler's plan a man buys 12 eggs for 35 cents whether the market price is 24 or 54 cents. Averaging the two it is evident that the customer does not lose on the year round purchase, and he had the advantage of knowing that when he buys 12 eggs he gets 12 eggs that are fresh.

Covers Fifteen Acres.

Briarcliff Farm covers 15 acres of land near Druid Hills. It is beautifully situated on several little hills, well wooded on the north side and cleared on the south. Mr. Candler was not so infatuated, as some of his friends suggested, with the racing game that he named his farm after one of the famous automobile race courses, but named it because of the nature of the land which the farm covers. In a bottom between two hills, Mr. Candler encountered a briar patch which covered about an acre. When he waded through that briar patch one day several months ago, before he had it cleared away, he decided that Briarcliff would be the most appropriate name for his farm.

The houses, many of them already up, have concrete floors, and concrete walls up to two feet above the ground, with floors and part of the walls made of concrete it is impossible for rats or vermin to reach the chickens.

In the interest of cleanliness Mr. Candler has had the houses built on sloping ground. These houses, divided into many pens, are 170 feet long, and one end is always about seven feet lower than the other. Thus when they are flooded with water it will be easily drained away. One man by playing a hose on the upper end can clean the whole house in a short time.

Walk In Each House.

In each chicken house is a walk about three feet wide between the pens on each side, and from this walk practically everything necessary can be done without the employee entering the pens. For instance, the nests are built in a little wall back toward the walk. The back to this wall is on hinges, and as the person collecting the eggs to each pen he merely has to open this wall or door and there is a row of nests within easy reach.

Below this row of nests are feeding troughs. There is running water in each chicken-house.

And from the all-important walk, again, all the employees have to do to let the chickens out of the pen into the "run" is to pull a lever which is connected by a rope with little traps leading out into the "run."

The "run" for each pen is most interesting. Naturally, it is covered by fine wire. There is a gate leading in from the rear, but this is seldom used except in the evenings, when the chickens are driven into the house for the night. The floors of these "runs" have been put through a hardening process, and the surface dirt on them is cleaned out every two or three days. A prepared mixture of leaves, gravel and dirt is always on this surface, and every morning a small amount of grain is placed in this dirt in order chickens may exercise themselves before breakfast. The first thing done in the morning by the employees at the farm is to sprinkle this grain on the dirt and the "runs." Then the chickens are let out on the "run," where they scratch about for half an hour. They are then allowed to re-enter the house, where breakfast is awaiting them.

Mr. Candler believes that chickens need a great deal of exercise and has devised this plan for making them take it.

Not Salts, Oil or Pills But 'Cascarets'

No Odds How Sick Your Stomach; How Hard Your Head Aches or How Bilious—Cascarets Make You Feel Great.

Cascarets act as a bowel tonic, not as an irritant. They are vegetable. Their action is natural. Their effect is the same as the effect of some foods. They are gentle; no gripping. They are pleasant; no dreading. They are convenient; no waiting.

One old way was castor oil. The effect was to grease the bowels, and for a single day. Oil never causes the bowel muscles to act. Other ways were pills, salts and cathartics. The effect was the same as pepper in the nostrils. They flooded the bowels with fluid. Those fluids were digestive juices. And the waste today means a lack tomorrow.

We knew that the method was wrong. That the after-effects only weakened the bowels. But we had no gentle laxative in the old days. So we waited as long as we could, then took a big dose of physic. The method today is to take one Cascaret at a time—just as soon as you need it. Then the bowels are always clean. They cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store.

PATRIOTS MADE IT THREE STRAIGHTS FROM ANDERSON

Doyle's men made it three straight from Anderson, the score in the game played at Cone park yesterday afternoon being 6 to 1. The Electricians accepted defeat gracefully, and apparently made but little effort to win. The playing of the visitors was loose and the infield work was ragged. The locals outfielded and outbatted the Electricians, and in every point of the game showed up to the best advantage.

Wallace was on the mound for the Patriots and he was steady and effective. Only one run was made by his opponents, and this in the seventh, when by quicker fielding the run might have been prevented. Coombs occupied the knoll for Anderson and the Patriots managed to get 13 safeties off his delivery. Better fielding behind the pitcher would have substantially decreased the number of Greensboro's runs.

The Patriots have the advantage of the Andersonians in fielding. It was extremely pleasing yesterday to note the splendid team work of Doyle's men. Not an error was made, but instead it was quick, snappy ball. A pretty double play was pulled off in the ninth by Carwin, Doyle and Fuller. Manager Doyle finds favor with local fans by giving to the Gate City the best working infield ever seen in this circuit.

Corwin and Doak starred at the bat, the former getting a triple, a double and a single, while Doak got three singles. Doyle also landed on the sphere for a double and a single.

SMITH'S SPINNERS COME HERE TODAY FOR THREE GAMES

There will be a general shifting around of the teams in the circuit today. Greenville will come to Greensboro for a series of three games, Winston will go to Anderson and Charlotte will go to Spartanburg for the balance of the week.

Dick Smith's Spinners are a husky bunch of players, and when the Patriots were in Greenville, the locals got only one of the series. Doyle and his men expect to return the compliment, or probably go Greenville one better by taking the entire series. The games will be called at 4:30.

Next week the Patriots will be in Charlotte for the first three days and Winston will be here the last three days.

DIAMOND DUST

Baseball today.

Game will be called at 4:30.

Greenville is the victim for the remainder of the week.

Bet Kelly is glad this series with the Patriots is over.

Charlotte is still forging forward at a rapid rate.

If anyone thinks the Hornets are the Detroit of this league, he will soon be disillusioned.

Corwin is batting at a lively clip.

Doak looks better than ever, from where we sit.

Wallace showed up well in yesterday's game.

Dick Smith will bring that bunch of Spinners here today to furnish fresh wool for the Patriots the remainder of the week.

It was refreshing to see Tony Walters there in uniform yesterday.

Wonder if Lave Cross wishes he had offered Dr. Walters a little more money.

Funeral of Mr. Kellam.

The funeral of S. A. Kellam, whose death occurred yesterday morning at 1 o'clock, as a result of injuries received Monday afternoon, will be held from Pisgah church this morning at 11 o'clock, the interment to follow in the church graveyard.

STILL HUNTING FOR DOROTHY ARNOLD

Special to Telegram.

Albany, N. Y., May 10.—Dorothy Arnold was hunted for throughout the city this afternoon. It was reported that she was living here with an old nurse. The search of the police was in vain, as no trace of the missing young woman was found.

Exciting Runaway.

Yesterday afternoon there was an exciting runaway on South Davie street, a horse belonging to the King-Stewart Livery Company dashing down the busy thoroughfare at break-neck speed. The animal became frightened at the stables and broke loose from the buggy, carrying off one shaft and the harness. The shaft and various pieces of the harness were scattered along the street at various points. Luckily the animal was stopped before serious injury resulted or anyone was hurt.

"Does your husband allow you to have things charged at the store?"
"Oh, I think he would, but—"
"But the stores wouldn't—is that what you were going to add?"
"Oh, no. I was going to say that he gives me plenty of money with which to pay cash. Does yours?"—Buffalo Express.

It's easier to put off a bluff than it is to put up the stuff.
